

Going Further Stealth In 2025

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 highlights different seasons that come as we go through life's journey. In light of current culture which is fulfilling what Jesus Christ stated would happen before His return – there is coming a time when no man can work, and, in application, when one finds certain ministry efforts to be most difficult to provide due to the rise of dark warfare (especially through online technology) – we find a portion of the Ecclesiastes passage to be our present guide: For Endurance Ministries, it's now a time to break down | to lose | to be silent in the context of new Internet service. We are discontinuing new ministry projects and even discontinuing some of our older online services through the course of 2025. We're doing so after having transferred most of our materials on to our more recent sites. In so doing, please download what you'd like to retain NOW because some of our articles will no longer be available and because our quality time sensitive articles may not always be updated online hereafter.

Some of you may recall [that] we state on a couple of our older sites, this: If our materials go away, it's not our fault. This continues to be the case (since we've reposted most of our ministry appeals on the web sites listed below). That being said, we do find it necessary to discontinue some of our valued online | Internet efforts.

You are most welcome to look over our off-line ministry efforts so as to keep up to date on the crucial appeals we're currently sharing and on those we will continue to share in the future. Please recall: These off-line appeals come in multiple forms – some examples include: Hard-copy articles – blogs & good free stuff handouts ; Monthly Endurance Ministries' letters ; Live presentations (in churches and schools). For details on joining our off-line viewing audience, email us using the email addresses below.

While we will still have a small online presence, our main services will predominately be available through off-line venues. That said, our 2025 online efforts will include, Lord willing, the following:

Closing comment:

We wish you God's generous protection against the darkness ahead through the Counsel He lovingly gives in His Word.

God of glory, God of grace, thank You once again for being so generous to us in sending us Your Incarnate Word – Jesus Christ – and Your written Word – the Bible. We bless Your holy name. Until Your Son's return, dear Father God, help us be Your Truth-based Ambassadors who, because of the love of Christ Jesus, continue to herald Your messages of Light and Hope to a needy world. May we draw from Your resources in order to excel in our efforts at representing You – Lord, may our efforts be fruitful unto Your glory and praise ; may we walk in Your precious Holy Spirit ; may we abide in Your beloved Vine. As we endure in Your Kingdom work, we continue to ask: Please, would You come quickly Lord Jesus? Amen
