Our mission is to bring biblical education concerning exactly what the Word of God states will transpire in the days just prior to the glorious return of Jesus Christ. This ministry emphasizes our contemporary setting in relationship to the major themes God deems most crucial during this time.

We trust you will find our web site to be of encouragement to you - we've made it both informative and inspirational.

Some have expressed the need to have biblical justification for this ministry's emphases. While the biblical themes are clear and the cultural examples are obviously present to those with open eyes, we also enjoy biblical grounds for the chronological distinctives of this ministry.

Please note: Although the defense of the position is not the emphasis of Endurance Ministries, we do agree it's important to show sufficient warrant for the chronological position in order to make the application appeals we do.

For information about the eschatological position (especially that of chronology) of this equipping-toward-the-end-of-readiness ministry, please see:
